THE MYSTERY OF NATURE.

BY THEODORE TILTON.

The works of God are fair for naught,
Unless our eyes, in seeing,
See hidden in the thing the thought
That animates its being.

The outward form is not the whole,
But every part is moulded
To image forth an inward soul,
That dimly is unfolded.

The shadow, pictured in the lake
By every tree that trembles,
Is cast for more than just the sake
Of that which it resembles.

The dew falls nightly, not alone
Because the meadows need it,
But on an errand of its own
To human souls that heed it.

The stars are lighted in the skies
Not merely for their shining,
But, like the looks of loving eyes,
Have meanings worth divining.

The waves that moan along the shore,
The winds that sigh in blowing,
Are sent to teach a mystic lore
Which men are wise in knowing.

The clouds around the mountain-peak,
The rivers in their winding,
Have secrets which, to all who seek,
Are precious in the finding.

Thus Nature dwells within our reach,
But, though we stand so near her,
We still interpret half her speech
With ears too dull to hear her.

Whoever, at the corriest sound,
Still listens for the finest,
Shall hear the noisy world go round
To music the divinest.

Whoever yearns to see aright,
Because his heart is tender,
Shall catch a glimpse of heavenly light
In every earthly splendor.

So, since the universe began,
And till it shall be ended,
The soul of Nature, soul of Man,
And soul of God are blended!

A Chapter of Humor.

BY JOHN QUILL.

I met my friend Mr. Wilkins down in the front parlor of the hotel at Old Castle one evening last week. He was engaged in reading a batch of letters from his two boys, one of whom is at boarding-school, and the other visiting an aunt in the country in company with his mother. Wilkins is anxious to see his offspring in print, so I send them to you. They are modest of style.

Letter from Holofergnes Montgomery Wilkins.

BIRCHTOWN ACADEMY, Sept. 20.

DEAR POP:—I am getting along first-rate at the school, and I like it very much, all except Whacks, the assistant. "Old Beeswax," we call him, and we are down on him like a pile-driver, all us boys, for he's ignorant. Why he's so ignorant he don't know a black board from a dark night, no, he don't; and Bill Ferguson he put a torpedor under each leg of Old Beesey's chair yesterday, and when he sat down (you see, he sets down like he had ballast in him), why the torpedors they exploded, and liked to blowed him through the roof. Golly, but wasn't he scared! He looked at the almanac to make sure it wasn't the 4th of July, and then he came down, looking mad, and licked Bill like blazes. But Bill said he didn't care a cent, and the next time he would sprinkle gunpowder in his hair, and bust his old frontispiece off of him.

Dr. Groggles, he's a nice enough old feller, only he will sit and chew gum drops right before us boys, and never say "take some" once.

He wears green specs, and Bill Ferguson, he called him "old four eyes" one day, which the doctor, he heard Bill say it, and he nailed him and dragged him up to the desk, and then he gave us a lecture, and said there was once a boy he knew, and he was about Bill's size, who insulted a gray headed old man, and called him wicked names, and the next day—the very next morning—the boy's mother died of inflammatory rheumatism, and his sister broke out with bunions.

Bill, he cried while the doctor held him by the shirt collar, but he winked at the boys as he came away, and wrote on a piece of paper, and threw it over to me, that he thought the doctor was "a blower," and he dare-sent hit a boy of his size.

I want some new books very much, about ten of them, and they will cost eight dollars. Please send the money for them. Don't send the books, for the doctor likes us to buy them here.

I don't want any money for taffy or marbles for I don't care about them; but be sure not to send anything but the money for the books.

I am in good health. I was taken sick last week, and had a sore eye for a few days, but it is now well.

We was playing mumbley-peg out on the grass, and Bill Furguson, he grabbed my knife. I told him he better give that knife up or I would tell you, and get you to lick him when you came down, and he said he could lick you and a dozen like you, and then he dared me to knock a chip off his shoulder.

And Jake McGinnis, he pushed me against him, and that knocked the chip off, and Bill he struck me over the nose three or four times, and said he'd "bust my snoot" if I didn't dry up, for I couldn't help crying, and I was taken sick, and couln't go to school all that day.

And the doctor, he locked Bill up in the garret, but he didn't care, for he clumb out on the roof, and was chasing around after tom cats, up and down, almost all the morning, and pulling plaster out of the chimney to throw at people in the street.

Give my love to all at home, and don't forget the money for books.

Bill is about fourteen; do you think he can lick you?

Please send the money, and believe me.

Your affectionate son,
H. M. WILKINS,

P. S.—Don't forgot to send the money for those books.

Letter from Bucephalus Alexander Wilkins.

IN THE COUNTRY, Sept. 20.

My Dear Father:—Me and William Henry are having a first-rate time, and I write to you these few lines that we are well, and so is mother. She and Aunt Samantha, they will spat, you know, and yesterday mother told aunt Samantha that she had fished for you when she was a girl, but couldn't get you. Aunt Samantha, she said would not marry such a bald-headed bush-wacker as you are, if you were worth a million.

Then mother, she said she "couldn't" and Aunt Samantha said she "could," and mother went at her with the rolling-pin, and for a few minutes the fur flew, I tell you.

William Henry and I thought that would be a good chance to go for the preserves in the pantry, and so we did, but mother came in and caught us, and whipped us like the nation.

She's getting rather rough on us, I think. Can't you come down and help us over the stony places?

Uncle John, he took us to the circus last night, where there was a boy about my size, who threw summersets on a horse. Say, pop, may I quit going to school and join a circus?

And William Henry he came home, and went out and tried to skin the cat in the barn, but he got over and could not get back, and he fell down and scared one of the horses so that he kicked his leg through a partition and broke it, and scared a hen off of thirteen eggs she was setting on, so that she wouldn't come back, besides knocking down a scythe blade that fell on a cow, and cut her so that she bled to death.

Didn't Uncle John got up and howl over that? Well he did.

But William Henry said you'd pay for the damage, and we went a fishing to get out of the way, but we didn't ketch much excepting a few catties, and while I was looking over the side of that boat William Henry kept a rocking it, and it upset, and we both got wet, but a man hauled us out, and we went home, but mother she like to flogged the hide off of us.

I wish you would come down here as soon as ever you can. Don't mind Aunt Samantha, she's nothing but a wall-eyed old teapot, anyhow, and William Henry says he bets her teeth are false.

So we are enjoying ourselves very much, and we spend our time hunting for birds, and so on, and last week I got a fair crack at one and I shied a stone and it slipped and hit six bottles of new ketchup that were standing on a table outside of the kitchen door, and glanced over and struck the servant girl on the jaw, which swelled up like she had a half a brick in her mouth.

You never see such a face; but I couldn't help it, and mother she spanked me like mad.

If you can come down as soon as convenient I will be very glad.

We are all very well excepting Wm. Henry, and he has a slight attack of dog bite—rush of dog to the leg, the doctor called it. You see Mulloney's over on the next farm, they have an orchard, and William Henry he went for his apples, but Mulley, you know, was a watching him behind a tree, and he set a yellow-nosed bull-terrier on William Henry, and William Henry just did his all fired best to get over that fence, so he broke for it, and just as he got one leg over, the bull-terrier it clinched its teeth into his leg, and hung on just like as if he growed there and had never been used to anything else. William Henry had his pants torn, and mother she made him go to bed with out any supper but he let a string out of the window and I tied a basket full of ginger-bread I found in the cellar on to it, and then I told mother I wanted to go to bed, too, and William Henry and I had a bully old time off of them gingerbread, you just bet.

But mother comes it too severe on us, so can't you come down?

I am Your affectionate son,
B. A. WILKINS.

Mr. Wilkins stated that he sympathized deeply with the boys, but wouln't go down. "For," said he, "what's the use of my going down along with that woman just to make myself miserable, and lose the only chance I've got to have a little peace and quiet? What's the use, I say? and by George, I won't go, not if I know myself, and I think I do."—Philadelphia Sunday Transcript.

A PLAIN TRUTH.—No man has a right to marry till, in every human probability, assured that he can support a family in his own station. Mere love or improvident matches seldom turn out well: poverty comes, and there is so much self reproach on either side, that gall is added to its bitterness; their tempers are soured, and they soon wish themselves unmarried. But when trials assail an attached, a reasonable pair, sorrow unites them closer; the man, feeling how much depends on him, never flags in his exertion, and often recovers the lost step; if not, there is still consolation in his wife's unvarying love—in her sweet, noiseless sacrifices. In these uncertain times, there are few commercial men but have met with reverses; and they will often say, "Had it not been for those at home, I should have blown my brains out; I could not have stood it." Wife and children! they are a beacon to us in our troubled sea: we renew the struggle when ready to sink beneath the wave, and at last are saved. At the worst, when all is black—when friends are cooled or reproachful—when the most cruel doubts assail us—there is still one who respects and loves us; at home we are still dear.

ARTLESS SIMPLICITY.—One of the sweetest incidents that we have noticed for many a day—and one which shows the effect of early training, assisted by a pure and undefiled imagination—has just fallen under our observation. It is thus related:

A lady visited New York City, and saw on the sidewalk a ragged, cold and hungry little girl, gazing wistfully at some of the cakes in the shop window. She stopped, and taking the little one by the hand, led her into the store. Though she was aware that bread might be better for the cold child than cake, yet desiring to gratify the shivering and forlorn one, she bought and gave her the cake she wanted. She then took her to another place where she procured her a shawl and other articles of comfort. The grateful little creature looked the benevolent lady fully in the face, and with artless simplicity said, "Are you God's wife?" Did the most eloquent speaker employ words to better advantage.

MODESTY.—Nothing is more amiable than true modesty, and nothing more contemptible than that which is false: the one guards virtue, the other betrays it. True modesty is ashamed to do anything that is repugnant to right reason; false modesty is ashamed to do anything that is opposed to the humor of those with whom the party converses. True modesty avoids everything that is criminal; false modesty everything that is unfashionable; the latter is only a general, undetermined instinct—the former is that instinct limited and circumscribed by the rules of prudence and religion.

EYES OPEN.—Keep your eyes open, boys and girls. There is not a leaf on the trees, a linchin on the bark, a face in the street, but that can teach you something, if you will only keep your eyes open.

☞The humble man requests a favor as though he were unworthy to receive it; but the proud man asks for a favor in the same tone as he were granting one.

☞Relatives are not necessarily our best friends; but they cannot do us an injury, without being enemies to themselves.

In prosperity we need moderation; in adversity, patience.

Idleness is the mother of vice, industry the stepmother of all virtues.

Idleness buries a man alive.

The Spider's Web.

How wonderful is the tenuity of the fairy-like lines, yet strong enough to enable the aerial voyager to run thro' the air, and catch his prey which ventures within his domain. It is so fine that, in the web of the gossamer spider, the smallest of the tribe, are twenty tubes, through which is drawn teh viscid globules, the gummy matter it employs in spinning each of the thicknesses of about one-tenth of an inch.—It takes 140 of these globules to form a single spiral line; it has twenty-four circumlocutions to go through, which gives the number of 3,360. We have thus got the average total number of times between two radii of the circle; multiplying that number by 26, the number of radii which the untiring insect spins, gives the total amount of 87,360 viscid globules before the net is complete.

The dimensions of the net, of course, varies with the species. Some will be composed of as many as 150,000 lines; yet even to form this net, the spider will only take five minutes! Wonderful, indeed, is the process by which the spider draws the thread from its body, more wonderful than any rope or silk spinning. Each of these spinnerets is covered with rows of bristle-like points, so very fine that a space about the size of a pin's head, will cover a thousand of them. From each of these points or tubes issues a small but slender thread which unites with the other thread, so that from each spinneret proceeds a series of threads forming one compound whole; these are situated about one-third of an inch from the apex of the spinnerets; they also unite and form one thread, 624 of which are used by the spider in forming his net. With the instrument which Nature has given him, the claws of his feet, the spider guides and arranges the glutinous thread as this seemingly inexhaustible fibre is drawn from his body and interweaves them with each other until the web is complete. In this way spiders are weavers of a supple line, whose touch, for quickness and fineness surpasses that of any spinning jenny.

A CURIOUS CALCULATION.—An exchange says: "What a noisy creature would a man be were his voice, in proportion to his weight, as loud as that of a locust! A locust can be heard at the distance of one-sixteenth of a mile. The golden wren is said to weigh but half an ounce; so that a middling sized man would weigh down not short of four thousand of them; and it must be strange if a golden wren would not outweigh four of our locusts. Supposing, therefore, that a *common man weighs as much as six*teen thousand of our locusts, and that the note of a locust can be heard one-sixteenth of a mile, a man of common dimensions, pretty sound of wind and limb, ought to be able to make himself heard at the distance of one thousand six hundred miles; and when he sneezes, his house ought to fall about his ears! Suppose a flea to weigh one grain, which is more than its actual weight, and jump one and a half yard, a comman man of one hundred and fifty pounds, with jumping powers in proportion, could jump twelve thousand eight hundred miles, or about the distance from New York to Cochin China."

GIRLS.—Somebody says, and it is true, that there are two kinds of girls. One is the kind that appears best abroad—the girls that are good for parties, rides, treats, visits, &c., and whose chief delight is in such things.—The other is the kind that appears best at home—the girls that are useful and cheerful in the dining room, sick room, and all the precincts at home. They differ widely in character. One is often a torment at home, the other a blessing. One is a moth, consuming everything about; the other is a sunbeam, inspiring light and gladness all around her pathway. The right education will modify both a little, and thus unite the good qualities of both in one.

☞Debt is Satan in disguise. People who are skeptical on the point will not be troubled that way after getting into the slough a little way. To be followed by dunners is to lead off a bad company; a set of men no man should ever get acquainted with. There is no quiet in debt. Is is a world to which torturing spectres jump up and jump down, and jump all around in attitudes and shapes that are more than diabolical. It is easy enough to keep out of debt; once in it it is a struggle no giant is equal to. Young men—and also young women—will make a note of this.

Proud looks lose hearts, but courteous words win them.

A Look at the Stars.

A scientific writer says that "the study of the calm, eternal stars, aided by the multifarious appliances of science, advances with the civilization of the centuries and the growth of human intellect. The constant recurrence of astronomical phenomena has rendered scientific study of the planets a permanent necessity, and students of the stars are now almost as plenteous as "leaves in Vallambrosa." The mellow Autumn nights, when the sky is not obscured by rainy clouds, are very favorable for a contemplation of the firmament and its teeming mysteries and marvels. If the night be cloudless there will be spread out before the observer the most magnificent spectacle that the mind can conceive of, the greater and more conspicuous planets gleaming with marvelous brilliancy in the midst of constellations that have clustered since the morning stars sang together, and the lesser satellites glinting the broad expanse of the heavens, like a tremulous swarm of beautiful fireflies. Piercing the meridian of these splendid Autumn nights may be seen the most brilliant star of the northern hemisphere, Vega—or as it is more commonly called, Lyra, from the name of the constellation of which it is the crowning gem. Distant from the earth about eighteen thousand times further than our planet is from the sun, yet it seems to be one of our nearest celestial neighbors. Its primary brilliancy is about three and a half times greater than that of the sun, and its light is twenty-one years reaching us. The constellation to which this star belongs contains only twenty-one stars. Lyra or Vega, Episilon and Zeta, the two small stars of it, Delta in the middle, and Beta and Gamma in the garland of the harp, are all that to the ordinary observer are large enough to attract attention, standing where a full sweep of the sky can be obtained and facing the south. At the left will be seen the mighty planet Jupiter, now distant from the earth four hundred millions of miles, which is two hundred millions of miles less than the greatest distance to which it ever recedes from us. The large yellow star on the right, not far from the horizon, is the planet Saturn; and not quite so far to the west, and nearer the horizen, is the fiery-red star Ansares, the heart of the constellation, known as the Scorpion. There are other first magnitude stars, visible upon any clear night, all of rare brilliancy and beauty. The stars of Autumn, full of the sublime and subtle mysteries of the universe, and all perfect and harmonious parts of that problem of the Infinite which surpasses human solution, are indeed a study of the grandest and most instructive character." Take a look at the stars.

SELF IMPROVEMENT.—While it is pleasant and desirable to know something of everything, it is absolutely necessary to get along well in the world, that we know everything of something. Every man should know all that he is capable of knowing of his calling. What so soon destroys your confidence in a man as to receive in answer to some plain question, "I don't know," or "I can't tell!" On the other hand, let a carpenter state that a joist ought to sustain such a weight, or a machinist that such a piece of work ought to carry a given burden, and you at once have confidence both in the article and the mechanic. To that one end every man should bend his every effort, viz: to know his own business. After that the learning a little of everything is quite easy. There is no business so simple, but that there is something special to know concerning it, even to the day laborer upon the street; and he who knows all of his occupation is sure to succeed in it. If young mechanics should make it a study of the hours they too often waste, to post themselves in their trades, we should have less dissatisfied and ill-paid men in our workshops; but they have just learned enough to bear the yoke of society under the gad of a director or foreman, and not enough to run alone or drive.

FALL OF THE LEAF.—The season of the fall of the leaf has come again, with all its sad and salutary teachings. Who can shut his heart against its lessons? Who as he sees the frost withered leaf driven by the fitful winds, is not reminded that such is human life? Even as a leaf when the frost has dried up its sap, and its stem clings no more to the parent tree, so is our life. It be green to day and float gaily upon the summer breeze, but the frosts of death are gnawing at its stem, and we know not if it shall wave there to-morrow, or be driven away by the wintry blasts to eternity. Happy are we, if Nature preaches not to us in vain, in this her solemn day.

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

Anti-Radical Victories.

The radical platform as understood by the people, has been badly damaged in every State in which elections have been held this fall. Will the leaders of the Republican party profit in the future by the lessons in the late results. We shall see.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Last fall Geary's majority was 17,178. This year Sharswood's majority is about 800, a loss to the Republican party of over 17,000 votes. The next Senate will stand: Republicans, 19, Democrats, 14; House, Republicans, 54, Democrats, 46.

OHIO.—In this State, in the contest for Governor, the Republicans lost over 40,000 votes. The Republican majority last year was over 43,000—it is now but 3,000. On the amendment of the Constitution striking out the word "white," the majority against it is over 40,000.

IOWA.—This State continues to give a large Republican majority, but not as large as last year.

This Senatorial District.

McIntyre of Perry, and Shugert of Centre, both Democrats, are elected. McIntyre has a majority of between two and three hundred—Shugert has but twenty-three majority. The official vote will be published next week.

This Representative District.

Miller, Democrat, is elected by 250 majority, and Wharton, Republican, is elected by 161 majority. The official vote will be published next week. Both the successful candidates are citizens of this place.

☞Neither Congress nor the President can successfully lead. The people have spoken, and the programme must be changed.

☞If the people, irrespective of party, should nominate Gen. Grant for President by acclamation—what then? The old politicians see trouble ahead.

☞The absorbing idea with politicians has been party power. The results of the late elections are striking hints from the people that the politicians must do better or go under.

☞The odious and damaging record made for the Democratic party by its leaders during the war must be forgotten before that party can expect to gain a permanent foothold.

AN EYE-OPENER.—The results in the States, defeating radicalism, should be a hint strong enough to such politicians as the Journal & American editors.

☞Counterfeit 7.30 government bonds are in circulation to an amount of millions of dollars. The notes are said to be the best counterfeit ever issued of Government securities.

RADICAL PROGRESSION.—The House of Representatives of Tennessee, which completed its organization on the 8th inst., elected a colored man named James Summer assistant door keeper, over several white competitors.

☞On the 15th of September the anniversary of the National Independence and of the Restoration of the Republic of Mexico, was celebrated in the city of Mexico, where the greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the people.

☞Radicalism has been rebuked by the honest Union men of the Republican party who did not sustain the war against the rebellion that the negro should govern the South and enjoy equal political privileges with the white men of the North.

☞Most everybody in this neighborhood now agree that if L. W. Hall had been a candidate, he would have been elected by a good majority and might have saved the balance of the Senatorial and Representative tickets, and possibly the Supreme Judge.

☞The great Union element of the country when once aroused is irresistible. It has worked in harmony with the Republican party, wishing for the best, until it has discovered that a change can make the "situation" no worse.

☞White lawyers are now addressing negro juries in North Carolina. Query. How long will it be, under Radical rule, before white lawyers will have to address negro juries in Pennsylvania? The Ohio election will answer.

☞Both parties in Maryland have placed in nomination their candidates for Governor. The Republicans go into the campaign advocating universal suffrage. The same convention recommended the nomination of Gen. Grant for President.

☞In any future campaign the Republican party must cut loose from the radical leaders and radicalism or come out of the contest defeated. The honest Union element of the party has spoken and those who are not blind to truth can read the handwriting upon the wall.

Party Reconstruction.

During the war there was a "Union Party." Its platform was "the Union, the whole Union, and nothing but the Union." The "boys in blue" fought upon this platform. The war over, the radical negro influence commenced a reconstruction of the platform of the party and succeeded in disorganizing the party by taking from the platform the Union plank and putting in its place negro political equality. Since then the platform has been going down—down—until public opinion has determined to completely crush it. The black thing is already a wreck, and by the time the November elections are over the radical platform will be among the things that once had an existence.

What next? Will the leaders persist in the wrong—persist in pursuing a course which must continue to drive the Union men of the war to the support of the old Democratic organization?—or will they open the door to all loyal men opposed to negro political equality and the Democratic organization and its leaders? We have no doubt the same leaders who controlled the Democratic party during the war will have a controlling influence in that party should it again get into power, but we cannot see that any measures they would propose would be more destructive of the Union, the happiness and prosperity of our people, than the measures which have and may be forced upon the country by the radicals who have thus far been too successful in controlling the party organization opposed to the Democratic party.

☞Mrs. Lincoln, widow of the lamented President, has resolved to sell a large amount of clothing, jewelry, etc., on the plea of "urgent necessity." She states in one of her letters that "the necessities of life are upon me, and I am scarcely removed from want, and I find myself left to struggle for myself." This is truly a rending picture. What has produced this situation of Mrs. Lincoln's private affairs is not definitely known, but it is thought that she has been somewhat extravagant with her husband's and the Government's legacies. She attributes it to the ingratitude of the Republicans towards the memory of their chief; but this perhaps is inserted in her letter for mere party effect. Those who know her better than the public can best understand why she is in such destitute circumstances. If she has been extravagant she could not expect the purses of her friends to feed her fancy. The Administrator of Mr. Lincoln, on the 14th of June 1865, made oath that he left an estate in money and real estate amounting to $85,000. With such an amount to start with, Mrs. Lincoln ought not to be already in want.

☞We do not believe that the recent elections show that the people advocate the "policy" of President Johnson; for the very reason that he has never had an opportunity to put any policy in practice; but we do believe that they show the people are opposed to the policy of the Radicals of the Republican party, in and out of Congress, which has been in practice for two years and more. The latter's policy has been tried and is found wanting; as for the President's, it has yet to be tried to discover its good or its evil. The Radicals might not be pleased to contemplate, should the scale be turned in favor of Johnson, that it was caused by their own headstrong and intemperate doings; but such will be the result if they persevere in trying to force their measures on the country.

☞The Republicans have lost the Ohio Legislature—making certain the election of a Democratic United States Senator to take the place of Ben. Wade who was to occupy the Presidential chair as soon as Johnson could be impeached. Some of the Vallandigham school of Democrats already talk of electing him. If the Democratic party wants to take a far back seat again, all that is necessary to put them there is the elevation to positions of honor and trust, Vallandigham and his class of loyal men. Vallandighams must take a back seat with Phillips, Stevens & Co.

Gen. Grant on the Results.

Gen. Grant understands the "situation" about as well as any other of the great men of the country and what he says must have an influence. In Washington on Friday last, in a conversation on the election of last Tuesday, he said he was pleased with the result, because it would allay anxiety about a conflict of arms and revolution, and compel moderation on the part of extremists, who have been threatening measures that disturbed the public mind, and kept well-disposed citizens in alarm for the stability of the Government and security of our financial interests.

☞It is thought by the politicians in Washington that the election returns from Ohio and Pennsylvania have put a quietus on the impeachment of the President. Of this we shall know more when Congress meets. One thing is certain the Radical journals are not as bold as they were a few weeks previous to the election. Both parties must understand that peace is what the people want, and that they are tired of the wrangling at the Capitol.

☞Thaddeus Stevens declared that the reconstruction policy of the Radicals, and the action of Congress putting the same in operation, are "outside of the Constitution." They base their course upon the will of the people. As the people have now decided against negro suffrage, will Congress insist upon forcing it on the Northern States? Three or four of our radical exchanges, received since the elections, continue to demand the passage by Congress of the free suffrage bill. Where does the editors of the Journal & American now stand—for or against negro suffrage? Will they answer?

SIGNIFICANT.—The Democratic forces in Ohio were marshalled by such men as Vallandigham and Pendleton, and yet the Republicans did not defeat them. This is strange; but what more could the Republican party expect when it follows such leaders as Stevens, Wade, Phillips & Co. It appears, from the vote, that the people of Ohio would sooner have Vallandigham than Wade, although the record of each is bad enough, in all conscience. This is significant. Will the Republicans follow Stevens and Sumner any longer? We shall see.

☞The radical journals are presenting various reasons to account for their defeat in the late elections. None of them, however, have been honest enough to admit the real cause: Many Union voters, tired of Radical rule, either voted against the party or intentionally remained away from the polls. That was what was the matter.

☞The great change in public opinions as expressed at the late elections means something. It would be well for the radicals to try to shape their course to suit the demands of the people.

☞Gen. Butler says the impeachment project is dead—the late elections have killed it, and he adds, "we have lost our opportunity."

☞What the results of the late elections have done—killed off several Radical candidates for the Presidency. Grant stock is par to-day, with an upward tendency.

☞The Republican radicals have been doing a heavy business this fall reading Union voters out of their party.

Those marked * are not official.

What will the women think of this, the conclusion of an editorial in the New York Gazette, on the text, "Let us have Plump Women:" This country has no greater want at the present time than that of plump girls and plump women. Let us have them plump and healthy, whether they know anything or not. We can learn their children what they don't know, if necessary; by all means let us have rosy, blooming, solid women. The Pacific Railroad is not half as important to the prosperity of this country as aggregated avoirdupois of its women. The female sex of America ought to weigh at least half as much again as it does now."

Peaches twelve inches in circumference were exhibited at a fair in Illinois last week.

THE ELECTIONS.

OPINIONS OF THE REPUBLICAN PRESS.

From Forney's Press.

"The events yesterday will compell us to take no step backward."

"If the Republican party had the entire disposition of the suffrage question there would not be a disfranchised loyalist in any State of the Union. If there were no Democratic party now, there would be no such thing as opposition to impartial or universal suffrage in this country. We are free to admit that the great organization with which we act would deserve defeat and the lasting contempt of mankind, if, while insisting upon one alternative for the South, it refused to accept and contend for the same in its own section."

From the Phila. Evening Telegraph.

"Doubtless many conservative Republicans thought that we were going ahead too fast. They have not yet been educated up to the point of accepting in full the great results which the overthrow of slavery has rendered sooner or later inevitable."

"Those who have not yet realized the grand truth that the overthrow of slavery involved, as a moral and logical necessity, the enfranchisement of the hitherto chatterlized bondman, will surely be brought to see and acknowledge it. Upon no other basis is a reconstruction of the Rebel States possible."

"The talk made before the election, in which one party accuses the other of repudiation, and the other retaliates with the cry of agrarianism, must be viewed rather as an electioneering document, and must be given a wide margin of allowance."

From the N. Y. Herald, Independent.

"The action of the radical party has not been the creation of a civilization for the negro, but an attempt to turn the white race back to a barbarism which we have been trying to shake off, and from which we have been emerging for more than twenty centuries. It must be understood that our people are awakened at last, and are little inclined to march in retreat. The elections of Ohio and Pennsylvania fully demonstrates it. Let it not be supposed, however, that these elections denote a victory for the Democratic party, whose principles, as shown by the Rebellion, were "rule or ruin." It shows, on the contrary, that the Republican element of the country, tired and disgusted with the radical programme, have, for the moment, stepped aside to give rebuke to their leaders, and show them that the intelligence of the United States is not willing to accept a rule that cannot stand the analysis of common sense. There is a mighty conservative power quietly holding itself in reserve and watching our political fortunes. It is awaiting the next Presidential election, and when the moment comes to strike it will deal a terrible blow; Democrat, radical, Copperhead, and fanatic will go down before it. A President totally unfitted to appreciate the demands made upon him will disappear, and a Congress that has made a party football of the nation will also be deposed to give place to the best men of the country—the true conservative element of real statesmanship."

From the New York Times.

"The elections indicate no increased confidence in the Democratic party, but simply a reaction against the extreme nets and measures of the Republican party, and convey an admonition which ought to be salutary to political leaders."

From Wendell Phillips' "Standard."

"Had Congress met its responsibilities promptly and in a straightforward manner by long ago removing Johnson and guaranteeing negro suffrage, without equivocation, in its legislation upon reconstruction, the present untoward defeat and others foreshadowed might have been avoided. Will it be admonished at the "eleventh hour?" It is one of the most threatening dangers of the Republican defeat of yesterday that, in the Presidential campaign which will open next summer, the standard bearer of that party will be such, from supposed availability, as would render victory in itself a disaster. Better defeat with a standard which deserves success than victory only in the name."

WENDELL PHILLIPS.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette.

"The New York Herald takes the proper view of the elections when it says that "they do not denote Democratic victories, but that the Republican element of the country has stepped aside to rebuke its leaders." So say we. The masses have grown tired of the inert policy of those who are by circumstances placed in position as the pioneers of the party. They held to the party with a tenacity creditable to their patience, and were loth to sever their connection with it till the last vestige of hope for the accomplishment of any vigorous action was gone. But the party leaders will awake to a consciousness of their shortcomings, and ere many months roll away the Republicans will be cemented together in the one common bond which united them while battling for the perpetuation of our Union. Providence has been kind, showing the party their weakness before the great battle for the Presidency, and let us improve by the lesson vouchasfed the nation."

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.—Wade, Boecher, Tilton, Curtis, and a score of Senators and Representatives, have issued a short address in favor of Woman Suffrage. Commenting on this the Erie Dispatch says:

"The great objection urged by the opponents of the idea is that it is detaching woman from her proper sphere. As we look at it the law does not demand that a voter shall go to the polls; it merely gives him the right so to do, and the investure of women with that privilege or right, does not force them to neglect their present duties to mingle or take part in elections. Though we do not put ourself forth as an advocate of woman suffrage, we can look upon it in no other light than as a privilege to which the sex is justly entitled. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." If it is the duty of man to vote it cannot be a crime for woman. If woman is amenable to the laws of the land then it is not improper that she should have a voice in making them."

WENDELL PHILLIPS.

They have a giant in Missouri who is seven feet and a half inches high.

Pen and Scissors.

Texas has a "sour lake," whose water tastes like lemonade without sugar.

Oysters are somewhat expensive in London. They sell there at the rate of about forty dollars a bushel.

Six and three quarter millions of acres in Europe are devoted to potatoes.

Canada sent a cheese to the State Fair at Buffalo, weighing 7,000 pounds, and valued at $15,000.

The English champion swimmer has swum a thousand yards in seventeen minutes; this is said to be the fastest time on record.

They pay good salaries in Denver, Colorado. An Illinois preacher invited there is to receive three thousand dollars a year in gold.

The Cranberry crop of Massachusetts is said to be the largest ever raised in the State. Price are from $4 to $5 per bushel.

The new suspension bridge at Niagra Falls is to be rapidly pushed to completion. The towers will be 105 feet high, the span 1,250 feet, and the height above the water 175 feet.

Ohio is reported to have more sheep than any other State in the Union—5,568,052 out of the 32,695,707 in the United States. In 1866 the live stock of Ohio was valued at $151,000,000.

An organ-grinder at Norwich, Conn., displays on the sides of his instrument, neatly framed, a divorce from his wife, a letter of dismissal from a church, and a recommendation of character.

The English Parliament House Clock is of such magnitude that the time required to wind it up is two hours. The dials are twenty-two feet in diameter, and the hour bell weighs fifteen tons.

The Sandusky Register says the drouth is so excessive at Republic that every well in the place save one is dry. At Monroeville, drinking water sells at the rate of five cents per bucket; a landlord of the hotel is paying that price.

Zanesville, Ohio, has an infant phenomenon six years old, who sings, plays, recites poetry and prose, with wonderful vigor and precision. Her name is Ella Bowditch, and she is about to begin a "professional tour."

A new feature is about to be introduced in New York journalism. It is to be a critique of all the clergymen of any note in the metropolis. Their matter and manner are to be coldly and impartially judged as they would be were they actors.

At the lakes in the northern part of Maine on Monday, the snow fell to the depth of ten inches. At Rumford, Oxford county, there were four inches, which remained on the ground and roofs of buildings all day. Such a snow storm was never before known in these regions in the month of September.

They have a way of renovating old figs in New York. The figs are soaked for a time in common whisky, which being absorbed by them caused them to swell and become quite fresh looking. They are then carefully pressed or packed into the neat new boxes, and exposed for sale as new figs on the street corners.

A German newspaper says: "Two years ago Mr. Christian Segemeyer became father of his fifty eighth child. His first wife gave birth to twenty-three, of which six were twins and eleven single-born children. Of these fifty-eight children twenty-eight are living, all being daughters, and the man has never been sick, and enjoys good health, as do his children."

A new grass is springing up in the Southern States. It appears to be a dwarf clover, is very thick set, covering the earth with a beautiful carpet of green. It is much relished by cattle, and is a complete exterminator of Bermuda, joint, sedge and other grasses. In middle Georgia it is very abundant, and is attracting much attention.

A man in Maine has invented a machine for digging potatoes. It consists of a scoop made of boiler iron, which is driven under potatoes and lifts them with the earth upon a hopper on which the earth is shaken of and the potatoes thrown into the furrow behind the machine.

An excursion party is being formed in Helena, Montana, to visit the falls of the Yellow stone, where it is said the whole volume of the river is precipitated over a precipice sixteen hundred feet high, and loses itself in a lake twenty-five or thirty miles in circumference, which contains an island of several hundred acres, covered with boiling springs.

A button mania is raging out West amongst little girls and grown women. It consists in an ambition to have a string of buttons of no use to any one, but of as great variety and costliness as possible. One lady in Louisville values her string at $1,000. They are carried in the hand, and the Kentucky State Fair Association gives a premium to the lady exhibiting the finest string of buttons.

The "finest woman in the world" is being exhibited in a booth on the Champs de Mars. Those who visit her are addressed by her in the following modest style: "I am the most beautiful woman in the world. No empress, no queen can compare with me. You are at liberty to touch me, messiours; you will find that there is no cotton about me." Very few of the visitors, however avail themselves of this permission.

A proposed railway consolidation of importance is mentioned in the New York Commercial Advertiser. That journal says the plan is to consolidate the New Jersey Central, Camden and Amboy, and Pennsylvania Central railroads, with Western connections and the Pacific Railroad, so that by 1870, three years from the present time, passengers can take the cars at Jersey City, and go through without change to San Francisco. The undertaking is certainly one of great magnitude.

The New York Herald has made the sharpest commentary on Mrs Lincoln in advertising her poverty, and calling on the public, especially the negroes, to send in contributions for her relief, and now in publishing notes enclosing $1 and $5 each for her benefit. One comes from a freedman with a single dollar, and this remark: "I would send more, but I am a poor preacher of the gospel and am not doing anything more. I was a slave in Virginia till this war, and Mr. Lincoln made me a free man."

The Athens, (Tenn.,) Republican says that two men in that vicinity built a fire around a cow that they were attempting to drive, in order to force her to get up, and the poor animal died under the torture. A day or two after this occurrence one of these men had occasion to pass by the scene of his cruelty, when his horse became frightened at the dead cow, threw his rider, breaking his arm and seriously injuring him otherwise.

At the recent agricultural fair at Bridgewater, Connecticut, an enterprising undertaker exhibited in the hall a hearse, coffins, gravestones, &c., one sample coffin being placed in the hearse. But this funeral spectacle was outdone by a coffin at a stationery stand outside, containing a wax corpse and ingeniously arranged with a mirror under the lid, so that the remains could be viewed in an upright position, without the mourners being put to the trouble of looking inside. Certainly an extraordinary undertaking.

Vessels are already leaving New York and Boston regularly for cargoes of the new object of mercantile enterprise, "grass sponge," formerly considered useless. The Bahama Islands and the coast and Florida supply the market. The sponge is now prepared by machinery for mattresses, etc., at Birmingham, Connecticut. The demand is far beyond the mechanical means of supply, though nature produces it in sufficient abundance.

A sailing carriage, designed for crossing the plains, has been made at Saint Louis. Its wheels are ten feet high, it has two upright jib sails, and a sail on each spoke of the two wheels on one side of the wagon. The steering gear rests on the forward wheels. The body is shaped like a boat, and hung low, and will be used as a boat in crossing the streams.

A remarkable discovery is reported in Italy, by which two persons may converse by telegraph, recognizing even the sound of each other's voice. There was something here some years ago, between New York and Boston, but it was given up on account of the New York operator's breath smelling so bad of gin.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BRIDGES TO BUILD. The Commissioners of Huntingdon County will receive proposals up to 2 o'clock, on the 31st of October, 1867, to build a bridge across Haystown Branch, in Hopewell township, near the late residence of Daniel Mountain, deceased. To be an arch bridge 234 feet long and covered

ALSO.—At the same time and place, proposals will be received to build a canal truss bridge, across Six Beaver Creek, near Orbison's Mill. Plan and specifications for both to be seen at the Commissioners Office.

By order of the Commissioners.

Brief Items.

—The Methodist church at Lewistown is being enlarged.

—A patent has been taken out for tanning catfish skins.

—The Lutheran festival last week was a success, about one hundred dollars being made.

—Pavements are being laid in front of the Baptist, Methodist and German Reformed churches in this place. This is a decided improvement.

—George Allen, near Lewistown, has an old English bible, bearing date A. D. 1635, which would make its age 232 years

—Mr James Cunningham, of this place, conductor of the local freight, had his right hand badly injured in coupling cars at Tyrone last week.

—The Wallingford (Conn.) community make all our rat traps, and between July 20 and Sept. 20, shipped 74,020 to market.

—A veteran of the war of 1812, named William Truax, died at his residence in Fulton county, on the 12th of September, in the 87th year of his age.

—We learn that our young friend Ike Hildebrand has been appointed clerk in a post-office car on the Pennsylvania railroad. Ike is just the fellow for the "posish."

—That was a very enthusiastic Democrat who on the night of the election rejoiced so exceedingly over the news from Philadelphia as to jump up and kiss four or five of the bystanders.

—"Unanimous: Every body who attended the Huntingdon fair from this bailiwick, in the opinion that it was no 'great shukes.'" — Hollidaysburg Standard.—Bro. Traugh, you have no room to talk, unless you had a fair of your own.

—Mr. William Barr, of Kishacoquillas valley, met with an accident while attempting to cross the railroad near Lewistown, in a wagon, last week.—The locomotive struck the wagon, breaking it and most of its contents.—Mr. B. was cut about the head.

—Agricultural fairs: the farmers' daughters. At least we thought so, not many days ago. It's no use saying the farmers' daughters are not good looking, for they are, (at least they are about here,) and what is better, they are all in favor of the Union —to a man.

—A call has been issued to the pastors and brethren of the christian churches in Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia to send delegations of the pastor and three laymen to meet in convention at Pittsburgh on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 22d, 23d and 24th next.

—The following appears in the last Hollidaysburg Standard: "Making up an after the election paper out of before the election exchanges, is decidedly up-hill work." It requires so much precision and articulation to make even the above extract intelligible, that we think the truth has been told.

—Mr. Martin Gates, of Duncansville, Blair county, was severely wounded in the chest, during the late war. He came home and got well. The other day, he extracted a large brass button from the wound. The button, which was flattened, had been driven into his body by the bullet, and had remained there fully three years.

—The lengthening evenings, the giving up out door amusements, and the necessities of the weather, will shortly compel us, whether ready or not, to turn to the inevitable pursuits that pertain to winter. To the cultivated mind, there is a pleasure in scanning the contents of the county paper, which should be read at every fireside.

—A lady named Miss Maggie Young has been appointed Post Mistress at Frankstown, Blair county. Who says women wouldn't vote and hold office, if they had a fair chance. And won't the young men circulate around that 'ere post office. We think the day is coming when we will have all post mistresses and no masters, and why should it not come?

—Traugh, of the Standard, speaking of the election, in his last issue, says: "Should our hopes be realized—and we have strong faith that they will—won't our old rooster 'get up and dust' and shake the cob webs out of his thorax, and wake the echoes with his shouts of victory! You bet!" Knowing what he does by this time, we expect to see all the above and a little more too.

—We learn that a young man of Alexandria, this co., named Winfield Baker, is gathering up snakes, and taming them, and has now four or five of the different species. His success in taming the slimy varmints is said to be wonderful. We confess he has more courage than we have to capture them, let alone taming and fondling them. We hope to hear of no deaths from snake bites, in that place.

—Our exchanges are cautioning veterans throughout the country against parties representing themselves to be sent from Washington, with instructions to soldiers and claim agents for the collection of additional bounties, and also stating that the soldiers of 1861 are entitled to one hundred and sixty acres of land. The object of these parties appears to be to obtain the dates, number of regiment and officers' signatures as they appear upon discharge papers; with these dates forged applications for pay would probably be made out.

What We Desire.

There are items of local interest transpiring throughout the county every week, which we would be glad to chronicle, if we had the facts. We therefore ask our friends to note down such items as they think would interest them were they away from home, and send them to us. No matter about chirography, orthography, punctuation, or anything else of minor importance; "printers can read most anything," and make up some kind of a story if they only have the groundwork in the rough. We want the names of the writers, also, as a guarantee of the truthfulness of the occurrence—not for publication. We make this request in earnest, and hope it will not be in vain.

☞The Tuscarawas Advocate says: As an illustration to the advantages resulting from manufactures, we need only look to our neighboring town of Canton. Not many years ago Canton was one of the dullest and least progressive towns in Ohio. Instead of increasing in wealth and population, it was retrograding, as no one thought it worth while to locate there, and the young and energetic were leaving for more progressing localities. Finally, one man, a Mr. Ball, having invented an improvement in mowing machines proposed that the citizens of Canton should loan him $10,000, to manufacture them at that place. They did it, and that one factory was the nucleus around which the following have gathered: Two immense agricultural implement manufactories, one of plows exclusively, one of stoves and hollow ware, one of paper and mower knives, one of saddlery hardware, two of furniture, one of horse rakes, one of farm wagons, one of cultivators, one of wrought iron bridges, one of soap, besides a large number of others more or less extensive. An example Huntingdon would do well to follow.

The Port Grape in New Jersey.

The following cannot fail to satisfy any skeptical persons about Speer's wine being purely a grape juice wine:

PASSAIC, Oct. 23d, 1865.

This is to certify that I have been a resident of Passaic for the past twelve years, during which time I have known Mr. Alfred Speer, and been thoroughly posted in the manufacture by him of his celebrated wines, and can testify to the fact derived from a personal knowledge that his excellent Port Grape Wine is made entirely from the Oporto Grape, which he extensively cultivates in vineyards in sight of my residence. The Port Grape vine is a variety of of his own raising, cultivated exclusively by himself, and is a superior grape.

C. M. K. PAULISON,
U. S. Deputy Collector Int. Rev.

Our druggists have some of this wine, direct from Mr. Speer.

☞Maj. Johnston of the firm of Johnston & Wattson, has just returned from the eastern cities with a large stock of goods. The Major says goods are very low, and will sell Calicoes at 8 to 17 cts. Muslin 8 to 18 cts. All Wool Flannel as low as 30 cts. Persons who wish to buy cheap now can do so by giving the above firm a call.†

Astonishing.

How it is that A. L. Lewis in Leistors new building, Huntingdon, can sell goods so cheap. He is selling fine De Laines at 12½ cts. and Manchester and Pacific De Laines at only 25 cents per yard.

Speer's Wines

Are the pure juice of the grape, and are unexcelled by any native vintage. They contain valuable medicinal properties, and are of intrinsic worth to the invalid and the convalescent, strengthening the weak, and restoring the system to tone and vigor. Sickly persons and females should try them.

MARRIED,

Tuesday the 1st inst., by Rev. J. A. McGill, in the Church of the congregation, at Stonevalley, Rev. JOHN M. ADAIR, pastor of said congregation, to Miss RUTH CUMMINS, both of McAlaveys fort, Huntingdon county, Pa.

On the 9th inst., by Samuel Jones, Esq., Mr. CHRISTOPHER DEAHL to Miss BARBARA GEISLER, both of Huntingdon county Pennsylvania.

On the 24th ult., at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. J. R Lane, Mr. SETH MYERS to Miss KATE SPANOGLE, both of Hill valley, Hunt. co. Pa.

At the M. E. Parsonage, on the 13th inst., by Rev. R. E. Wilson, Mr. PETER H. LIGHTEL, of Henderson twp., and Miss BARBARA A. GREAZER, of Blair County.

DIED,

At Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, on the 19th of September, of yellow fever, WILLIAM H. DIEFFENBACH, aged about 29 years.

Mr. Dieffenbach was well known to many of the citizens of this place. He was a soldier in the war for the Union and being captured served eighteen months in different prison pens of the South. He again enlisted as a private in the regular army in October 1866, and has been at New Orleans until that fatal destroyer, yellow fever, made him a victim. Peace to his ashes.

A Little Fast.

We already hear of Republican candidates in this place for all the prominent offices to be filled by election next fall. This is certainly fixing up "the slate" in time.

The Election in this County.

We publish a table of official returns of this county. The full vote of the county this year is, Republican 3009, Anti-Radical 2258. Last year the vote stood Republican 3287, Anti-Radical 2368. There is a falling off from the vote of last year—the Republican fall off is 278; the Anti Radical fall off 110. We know of many Republicans who if they had gone to the polls would have voted against the Radicals. The regular increase vote in the county remained at home.

Wharton's majority in this district, 161; Miller's majority 250.

NONE but perfectly correct machines are allowed to be sent from the manufactory of Fairbank's Standard Scales. This principle scrupulously observed has given these instruments the world wide celebrity, and enabled them to triumph over all others in amount of sales and at the Great Paris Exposition, where they have received the highest premiums.

WANTED.

500 Agents to canvass for a work entitled "Nejoque," written by Hinton R. Helper, author of the "Impending Crisis of the South." The object of the author in his work is to show the great distinction between the white and black races. He denounces negro political and social equality, and says he can no longer act with a party that would willingly destroy the great line of distinction between the white and black races which God himself has established. Every person should secure a copy of this work.

ALSO, 500 Agents wanted to circulate the "Youth's History of the War," the only history from a Democratic standpoint. Those desiring agencies should address

E. W. MILLER, Huntingdon P. O., Pa.

Or call on Mr. Martin Fleaner, at the same place.

628. HOOP SKIRTS. 628.
WM. T. HOPKINS.
"OWN MAKE."
After more than five years experience and experimenting in the manufacture of SKELETON FIRST QUALITY HOOP SKIRTS, we offer our justly celebrated goods to merchants and the public in full confidence of their superiority over all others in the American market, and they are so acknowledged by all who wear or deal in them, as they give more satisfaction than any other Skirt and recommend themselves in every respect. Dealers in Hoop Skirts should make a note of this fact. Every lady who has not given them a trial should do so without further delay.
Our assortment embraces every style, length and size for Ladies, Misses and Children. Also, Skirts made to order, altered and repaired.
Ask for "Hopkins' own Make," and be not deceived.—See that the letter "H" is woven on the Tapes between each Hoop, and that they are stamped "W. T. HOPKINS, MANUFACTURER, 628 ARCH STREET, PHILADA," upon each tape. No others are genuine.
Also, constantly on hands full line of good New York and Eastern made skirts at very low prices, Wholesale and Retail at the Philadelphia Hoop Skirt Manufactory and Emporium,

OPPOSITE BOWLING GREEN.
ON THE EUROPEAN PLAN.
The STEVENS HOUSE is well and widely known to the travelling public. The location is especially suitable to merchants and business men; it is in close proximity to the business part of the city—is on the highway of Southern and Western travel—and adjacent to all the principal Railroad and Steamboat depots.
THE STEVENS HOUSE has liberal accommodations for over 200 guests—is well furnished, and possesses every modern improvement for the comfort and entertainment of its inmates. The rooms are spacious and well vent lated—provided with gas and water—the attendance is prompt and respectful—and the table is generously provided with every delicacy of the season—at moderate rates. The rooms having been refurnished and remodeled, we are enabled to offer extra facilities for the comfort and pleasure of our guests.

CALL AND SEE.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.,

CHEAP WOODEN PUMPS.

The merit of these pumps is shown by the fact that the demand for them is rapidly increasing everywhere. There is no iron in them to corrode and injure the water. They are light and convenient, so that every man can put in his own pump, the whole only costing him about one half the price of other pumps. Pumps, and wooden pipe to suit them, promptly shipped by railroad on receipt of orders. Give depth from floor to bottom of well.

BILLIARDS! BILLIARDS!!

JOSEPH L. POULTON,

Strawberry Alley, near Third Street,

HARRISBURG,

Respectfully informs the public that he has opened for their use his new and elegantly fitted up Billiard Room. It contains

FOUR NEW TABLES OF SHARP'S MANUFACTURE, superior to any now in the city.

This Billiard Room challenges comparison with any room in the State, west of Philadelphia.

No more Bald Heads! No more Gray Locks!

DR. LEON'S

ELECTRIC HAIR RENEWER,

Is pronounced by all who have used it the very best preparation for the Hair. It is a positive cure for Baldness, excessive Dandruff and Humors, stops the hair from falling out, and speedily restores Gray Locks to their original tint and luxuriance.

It operates on the secretions and fills the glands with new life and coloring matter. Thin, dead, faded or gray hair will always be brought back by a few applications, to its youthful abundance, vitality and color.

It makes the hair soft, glossy, fragrant, pleasant to the touch and easy to arrange. Dry, wiry and intractable locks become moist, pliant and disposed to remain in any desired position. As a Hair Dressing it has no equal—The sales are enormous and it is a universal favorite with old and young of both sexes.

Sold by Druggists throughout the United States. Address all orders to

BEALE'S

Late Powell's Embrocation,

For all Diseases Incident to HORSES, CATTLE, and the HUMAN FLESH,

Requiring the use of an External Application.

This new Compound, prepared by a practical Chemist having a full knowledge of all the medical virtues of each ingredient that enters into its composition, is warranted to exceed anything of the kind ever yet offered to the Public as an external application for the diseases for which it is recommended. We are satisfied that it will work its own way into the confidence of all who use it, and those who try it once will never be without it, and therefore we rely on experience as the best test of its usefulness. It is pronounced by Farriers, and all who have tried it to be the best application ever used. This Embrocation has been put up for over eight years, and it is only through the increasing demand and urgent request of my friends and the Public that I send it forth as the grand remedial agent for the various diseases to which that noble and useful animal, the horse, is subject

Many remedies have been offered to the Public under different forms, some of these are injurious, others at best of little use, and many wholly improper to answer the purpose for which they are recommended.

A judicious and really useful composition, free from these objections, has therefore long been desired by many gentlemen who have valuable horses, and are unwilling to trust them to the care of designing and pretended Farriers. Their wishes are at length fully gratified, by Dr. Beale being prevailed upon to allow this valuable Embrocation (which has proved so efficacious to the various diseases) to be prepared and brought out to the public.

This Embrocation was extensively used by the Government during the war.

PROF. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more acute and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS DULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all those complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ochoer pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, applicable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use.
